Kinsmen bring Donkey Baseball to White Rock

Proceeds from novel entertainment to aid ball park improvement

Donkey baseball, the most hilarious game on four legs, comes to White Rock next week when the cream of White Rock social and business life meets a hand-picked all star team from White Rock Softball Association—astride burros.

WCCA drafts new constitution

Ways and Means committee formed

Drafting of a new constitution for White Rock Community Centre Association was reported to the membership of that body at a meeting in the Little Theatre building Monday night.

The draft, prepared by constitution committee members, under guidance of G. W. B. Fraser, barrister, is expected to go to Victoria this week. It will be ratified at an early meeting of the association. Decision to form an interim ways and means committee to investigate financing of the site and building highlighted the meeting. Committee is to act until the constitution is brought down and an official body appointed.

Asked to work on the provisions, committee members were Murray, J. Smith, J. W. Thorpe, J. P. Mitchell and H. R. Pinchin. Group must investigate manner in which to raise $10,000 to purchase the proposed site, the Le Tourneur property, at Duane, Tustin and "P" street. It is felt that approximately $50,000 would be needed for the initial community centre building.

RESIDENTS NEED PERMISSION FOR SEWER CONNECTION

Residents connecting to the new sewer line without permission from the municipality are subject to a fine of $100 or imprisonment, warns municipal engineer Grant Starr.

The engineer's office is accepting connection applications at the Municipal Hall, Clavie road, now and expect to begin work in about two weeks when the sewage plant starts operation.

SUNNYSIDE NEWS

Community Association picnic at Bear Creek Park enjoys good attendance

There was a splendid turnout at the Sunnyside Community Association picnic which was held at Bear Creek Park on Sunday, July 16.

The usual sports events took place and there was ice cream and pop for all those who attended. This is an annual event which is looked forward to in the community and from the comments heard around Sunnyside it appears that many enjoyed themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nelson of Bellingham, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Strum, King George Highway.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ingram and Norma have moved to Bingley, having sold their home at Sunnyside.

Mrs. Beville has returned from Royal Columbian hospital, but is still confined to bed. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. E. Hoile is spending some time visiting friends and relatives in Alberta.

Miss Irene Stanton of Port Alberni, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. Casanova over the week end.

The comedy act is sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of White Rock to raise funds for the improvement of Selmaehoe Ball Park.

Game is scheduled at the park for 7:15 p.m., Friday, July 28. Teams will be made up entirely of local men, with entries listed from many local organizations.

Riding burros for the Kinsmen will be Pat Campbell, George Goode, Lyn Sullivan, Bill Walton, Guy Graham, Syd Fennell, Sid Johnson, Tom Sturgis, Mac Walker and a few other pet entries.

All star team will have three players from each of Army and Navy, Youth, Elgin and Revere.

Those who have ever seen an athletic contest where the motive power depended upon the slow-moving Rocky Mountain Canary have missed about the funniest spectacle imaginable says local Kinsmen.

The players take regular playing positions on the field, each mounted on a "jack" with the exception of the batter and the catcher.

When the batter gets a hit he must stride his "jack" and let it go for the pitcher.

No ball can be pitched or thrown if the player is not astride a donkey and by the way, these are real live Canadian born, bred and trained in Colorado.

Second treasure chest found but third still eludes searchers

Second hidden treasure chest buried by White Rock Oldfellow has been found by Miss Kay Leach, 1837 B Street, West Vancouver.

Miss Leach received a combination electric grill and waffle from the chest. White Rock Oldfellow Hidden number winner is the person holding ticket #10 who is ex-actly the same as the last time. At treasure hunt headquarters opposite the Great Northern station, the chest has been hidden somewhere between the black "white" creek and Selmaehoe ball park on the tide line but not over

Board of Trade endorses water company proposals

Resolution passes unanimously, purchase by municipality vetoed

White Rock Board of Trade turned down the recommendation of its water committee that Surrey Municipality take over White Rock Water Works and voted unanimously to endorse the company's program of expansion, as outlined by company president W. E. Johnson, at a meeting held in White Rock Lodge, Tuesday night.

Committee resolution vetoed by the general meeting read "Now is the opportune time for the Municipality to take over the water works and the Revere and Council be invited to a public meeting at an early date."

An hour's discussion preceded vote on the motion, during which one G. Graham, former councillor, alleged that "Cleveland" wouldn't give half as good service as the present system. White Rock gets nothing from Cleveland," said the speaker, "not even satisfaction." "Municipal water crews don't work on weekends."

ADmits FAULTS

Water company president Johnson outlined briefly the company's intended program and acknowledged certain defaults which, he said, "were caused by an all over your system." "The company has proposed plan extension."

Board of Trade president Archie McLean read out figures which he said showed that Water Works profits were higher than the 5.2 per cent allowed by the Public Utilities Commission. "The company has made a great enough profit over the years to borrow against capital and additional financing should not be necessary."

"No attempt was made to increase facilities until the Ratepayers' Association exerted pressure," said McLean. Johnson, however, claimed that his report in October, 1948, recommended improvements to company shareholders at that time.

ACTION PROTECTED

"Action of the ratepayers is tying up White Rock," said Johnson. The company wants to get going. The public will be protected, since the Public Utilities Commission must pass on any proposed increase in rates, and any such increase claims if it feels they are not justified."

When brought to a vote, the resolution favouring municipal purchase was turned down unanimously. Chairman of the water committee was absent.

On motion of treasurer Mac Zuck, the executive council agreed to meet with the municipal committee to ascertain if the council had any concrete proposals. This carried with a majority and the Selmaehoe Sun agreed to publish a report of the committee's findings when desired.

Youth for Christ meet tomorrow

Canon Gale passes away suddenly

A well known and respected resident died Tuesday, July 11, at Ocean Park. Canon Gale who has spent so many years of retirement here, had not been well for some time, but it is always sad to lose an old friend.

Funeral services were held on Friday, July 14, at the Anglican Church at Crescent Beach, conducted by two old colleagues, also on retirement here, Paul Pritchard and Canon Holdum.

Shamrock Farm was the scene of the Garden Party held last Wednesday, July 12, by the Ladies Auxiliary to the First Department. Among the lovely trees and gardens of the estate, many local people and visitors enjoyed the quiet charm and at the same time made to swell the funds necessary to purchase an inhalator and other things. The McCarty's are to be thanked for allowing the use of their grounds.

Why is it that some young people when on holiday must smash things up, causing great damage, involving cost and hardship, often danger to those concerned? Such an occasion was last Wednesday night when half a dozen young people, from New Westminster smashed windows in the barn at Shamrock Farm.

Also stored valuable cows; at the same time loading the Jersey bull to desperation, so that it broke loose, causing tremendous damage to fences and everything else that got in its way. Five of the young men were caught and turned over to the police who are dealing with the matter.

Local residents are most willing to share the blame for the recent city dwellers' behaviour, they expect decent behaviour on the part of the visitors.

What a delightful experience it is to turn around the path at the Point, and to see the yacht anchorage before your eyes. All shapes and sizes they lie, gently bobbing up and down at their respective buoys.

Alongside, the Swimming Club raft is alive with happy swimmers and divers, enjoying the current lovely weather.

The Comfort Station is nearing completion. The local residents' opinion of those who have worked so hard for the erection of this convenience. Local residents will be glad to see the station before the end of the summer season.

ELGIN vs. REVENUE IN SOFTBALL FINAL

Elgin made it two straight in the semi-finals when they swamped Revenuers 22 Sunday night in the second game of their best-of-three series. Score on the previous Thursday was 10-9.

Revenuers took Army and Navy 6-1 Sunday afternoon in their first semi-final playoff. Tuesday night the Army and Navy also forced the game to ten innings before dropping a 12-9 score.

Editorially speaking ...

For many of us, the fact that an institution or business is publicly owned, gives to it a special sanctity which is never attained by privately owned and operated undertakings.

That a hospital, a railway, a broadcasting corporation, or a skating rink is owned by the taxpayers, and operated by people appointed by them or by their elected representatives is when you come to think of it, no particular reason why it should be venerated and held above all others.

Far, far too often private institutions and businesses offer better service at lower cost than do their public counterparts. The private owner, with his all at stake and with no subsidies to fall back on, matches his revenue and expenditure as closely and carefully as possible. He is on goodswill, he goes out of his way to solicit business. Dependence as he is on goodwill, he goes out of his way to solicit business. Dependence as he is on goodwill, he goes out of his way to solicit business.

Far too often public institutions suffer from exactly the same ills as do private companies and monopolies. With the public purse to fall back on, and the sanctity of public ownership behind which to hide, their efficiency is frequently below par.

Public ownership is justified in certain instances. There are some things which can be done better and more efficiently through government ownership.

But the public generally is best served by private owners and operators, subject, where need be, to government control but without the gross inefficiency which so often accompanies projects dependent on the public purse.

A case in point is the White Rock Water Works Company. Admittedly, the company has been caught short in a period of rapid expansion. But now the company is trying to make up its lag. The bulk of criticism to its proposals seems to stem not from what it plans but from the fact that the company is answering its critics with action. If the municipality could supply better service than the water company, the critics would be justified. However, the municipality has not hinted it can, has advanced no figures on how it would, and in fact doesn't know if it could.

And it is safe to say it couldn't.

If handling of the sewer project can be taken as any criterion, Cloverdale would make a mess out of the water works. Municipal trustees would be the first reason and certainly Cloverdale doesn't want White Rock to go ahead and outshine it as the political as well as the popular, if not geographical, centre of the municipality. In its expansion program the company is going to get a dollar's worth of work for every dollar it spends, not fifty cents of digging and fifty cents of standing idle.

If Cloverdale started plans today, it would be impossible to acquire the water system in less than two years, allowing for notice and negotiations.

Meanwhile White Rock would not stand still. Oh no! It would retrogress so fast it would be back in the 1920's instead of the 1950's as its facilities are now.

But then, perhaps that is what Cloverdale wants. We suggest that the ratcatchers may be playing out of the frying pan into the fire.

The men and women who don't appreciate baby talk never had one of their own.

Look What Happened Last Time

Seen and Heard ... from the boardwalk

Localities and visitors have a treat in store for them with the coming of "Arsenic and Old Lace," by the White Rock Players. They are a busy group and a cheerful one.

If you have not attended a game of the "Girls' Softball team," you have missed some excitement. They really know their game.

The Moon and Green society are working in full force these days. The mooning is over their taxes, groaning while pushing the lawn mowers.

Have you noticed the new streets opening up on Hilltop, beautiful new homes too.

So, Surrey is to receive the fifth largest amount of money from the Provincial tax. Do you suppose that at long last it might be possible for us to have some sorely needed sidewalks? When you watch the mothers trying to drag baby carriages over the gravelled roads and the folks who have to sidestep (there is hardly any place to step to), to get out of the way of cars and trucks, surely the powers that be can spare a little of the tax money for this.

In the summer it is dust. In the winter it is mud and snow. Surely a start could be made on the main street. Take the east end going to the theatre. It is a wonder there has not been serious accidents there. Try to get to the Bus depot, heavy gravel, heavy traffic. With the heavy taxes being paid, let us have some sidewalks.

From New Zealand a man says that before a couple become engaged, the man should see his girl without make-up on. He should come here in the summer, he could easily REET.

Nasty Comments these days from visitors on the Beach re lack of bath house facilities.

Strange sights being seen on the beach, one half bald brown and shiny. Looked like a well polished bowling ball, but he was happy and healthy.

Some visitors from Virginia thought that with the beautiful scenery we have here, we should be a happy community. Thank goodness they had not heard of called the three dimensional town.

Value of Canadian mineral production reached $88,826,836 in 1949, more than twice the 1933 value.

Letter to the Editor

FILED AND READ

Editor,
Semihmoo Sun.

Dear Sir:

Once upon a time there was (as I understand it) a survey or plan suggesting that roads at White Rock be made on easy grades according to the contour of the land. But someone had a veto against that and insisted that the roads be north-south and east-west.

So now we have to travel up and down steep grades. However, it is still possible to have one fairly level, direct and serviceable road (necessary for fire truck) approximately east and west from Hilltop to King George Highway along Pacific avenue by securing a little land from private owners just east and west of Brady street.

A good secondary road would be worth $25,000 more than the present survey in a few years to the town to say nothing about the benefit of more direct fire service.

W. J. HARRISON
P.S. — One Hundred Pacific avenue property owners also signed a petition asking the improvement.

Tea for Two or Two Hundred

Sandwiches and cookies need variety for success

During the summer, organizations take advantage of the warm weather and have teas and garden parties to raise funds for worthy purposes.

This column is an answer to a special request for sandwiches and cookies that are suitable to serve on such occasions.

Even if you are not taking part in one of these larger affairs, you may be having a few friends in for afternoon tea or for bridge and these recipes and suggestions might help you.

SANDWICHES

We serve sandwiches for luncheon and supper and for tea, at afternoon parties and midnight snacks, receptions, picnics and box lunches. Yet in spite of these ever-recurring appearances, frequently sandwiches are neither attractive nor appealing.

Some people either have never learned the rudiments of sandwich making or else dislike the task so much that they carelessly throw together some measure scraps in the name of a sandwich. But even those who are interested often want new suggestions to extend their sandwich repertoire.

VARIETY IN BREAD

It is just as important to have a variety in the breads used in sandwiches as it is to vary the fillings. A sandwich tray with two or three kinds of bread on it is infinitely more appealing than one composed solely of white bread.

White bread, rye and whole wheat bread are extensively used, and nut bread, rye bread, and steamed Boston brown bread are used quite often. But there are other breads delicious and unusual that are particularly appropriate for sandwiches.

Here are a few recipes for breads that are delicious. And with these breads which have distinctive flavors of their own, the very simplest of spreads are required—often butter alone is all that is necessary.

Sandwiches and cookies need variety for success

During the summer, organizations take advantage of the warm weather and have teas and garden parties to raise funds for worthy purposes.

This column is an answer to a special request for sandwiches and cookies that are suitable to serve on such occasions.

Even if you are not taking part in one of these larger affairs, you may be having a few friends in for afternoon tea or for bridge and these recipes and suggestions might help you.

SANDWICHES

We serve sandwiches for luncheon and supper and for tea, at afternoon parties and midnight snacks, receptions, picnics and box lunches. Yet in spite of these ever-recurring appearances, frequently sandwiches are neither attractive nor appealing.

Some people either have never learned the rudiments of sandwich making or else dislike the task so much that they carelessly throw together some measure scraps in the name of a sandwich. But even those who are interested often want new suggestions to extend their sandwich repertoire.

PRUNE GRAHAM BREAD

1 cup bread flour
2 1/2 cups Graham flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 1/2 cups milk

1 tablespoon melted shortening
1 cup prunes, soaked, stoned and chopped
Mix together the dry ingredients, add the egg, combined with the milk, and the shortening. Beat thoroughly. Pour into shallow greased loaf pan and bake in a slow oven 325 degrees for 60 to 75 minutes.

BUTTERMILK RAISIN BREAD

4 cups native flour
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups raisins
2 tablespoons flour
2 well-beaten eggs
1 1/2 cups buttermilk
This is not only delicious but also keeps fresh and moist for a week. Mix together flour, salt, soda and baking powder. Cut in shortening and add sugar and raisins, which have been chopped and flour with 2 tablespoons flour. Mix together eggs and buttermilk and stir them into other mixture. Beat thoroughly and turn into greased loaf pan. Let stand 10 minutes, then bake at 350 degrees for about 1 hour.

SLICING AND BUTTERING

Bread for sandwiches should not be dry, but bread that is 24 hours old slices more evenly than the very fresh and spongy kind. Fresh bread is best for rolled sandwiches. The thickness of the slices depends upon the occasion. Tea sandwiches, for example, are cut as thin as possible, while those for a late supper might be more substantial.

All party sandwiches should have the crusts removed from the loaf before slicing, or after the sandwiches are made.

Butter should always be creamed, until very soft before spreading on sandwiches. It may be spread on the end of the loaf before the slice is cut off. This is the best method for thin tea slices. Butter right to the edges, and spread it on both sides of bread. This prevents the filling from soaking into the bread.

Sometimes seasonings are creamed with the butter, instead of being added later with the filling. Horseradish, cheese, chopped chives, parsley, water cress, and mustard can all be used in this way and in many instances, no other filling is required.

COMBINATIONS OF FILLINGS

Food for sandwich fillings are not limited to any one class. Meat, fish, poultry, vegetables, cheese, nuts, eggs, fruits, jellies and jams all are acceptable. At times one is used alone as a filling, but more often two or more are combined and it is interesting work indeed to experiment with blending various flavors.

Here are a few suggestions for fillings. This list is by no means complete but it may help you as a start so that you can work out your own combinations.

Ham Swiss cheese, mayonnaise
Tongue, egg, lettuce or water cress, mayonnaise
Chicken, bacon, lettuce, mayonnaise
Chicken, almonds, cream
Turkey, celery, cranberry sauce
Corned beef, mustard, catsup
Bacon, peanut butter, lettuce
Lobster, lemon juice, nutmeg, butter (mixed to taste)

Sardines, eggs, parsley, butter (mixed to taste)
Sardines, cream cheese, onion, parsley, lemon juice
Tuna fish, egg, parsley, lemon juice, mayonnaise
Crab, capers, pimiento, green pepper, mayonnaise
Eggs, chives, mustard, mayonnaise
Cream cheese, shredded pineapple
Cream cheese, orange marmalade
Cream cheese, olives, chives, mayonnaise
Roquefort cheese, olive oil, Worcestershire sauce
Hoisin, nuts, chopped fine, a little mayonnaise

...good cooks prefer the MODERN ELECTRIC RANGE

For homes without central heating, combination electric and wood-coal ranges are available . . . they give you the advantages of cooking electrically and also provide warmth for the kitchen when it's needed.

On a smart, new, automatic electric range, with its modern conveniences, cooking is so easy, so clean and so pleasant. Automatic control keeps temperatures constant, dependable—makes foods taste better and look better. You've no smoke, soot or ashes to make extra work; your kitchen stays fresh. When you consider that electric cooking averages only 75 cents per person per month, it just doesn't pay to put up with the inconvenience and dirt of an old-fashioned stove.

Put cheap electricity to work cooking for you—electricity does so much in your home for so little.

FANCY SANDWICHES

Small dainty sandwiches are served at tea or as an accompaniment to a party salad. A sandwich tray for such an occasion should present a generous variety. Combining one slice of white bread and one of whole wheat adds variety. Cutting circles or fancy shapes upon open face sandwiches adds interest to your tray. A bit of garnish pressed into the top of a party sandwich is extremely decorative.

Slices of olives or pickles, strips of green pepper, or mincelets, halved nuts, raisins, dates, maraschino cherries, mint leaves, or parsley are suitable garnishes for different types of sandwiches, and give a festive touch.

Give sandwiches ample room on the tray. Don't pile them up, it is better to replenish the tray as it empties.

CANAPES

Canapés are small, open faced sandwiches, and anyone not too pressed for time, and with a bit of imagination, will pleasantly enjoy making them. Cut the bread into fingers, circles, triangles, or fancy shapes. Butter them and spread with a sandwich paste such as crab, anchovy paste, or cheese or egg mixtures. Then decorate with some appropriate garnish. You can decorate with cream cheese pressed through a pastry tube. This is most effective.

Often the bread is toasted for canapés, or crackers are used. Or the sandwich is toasted with the filling.

ROLLED SANDWICHES

Remove all crusts from very thin slices of fresh bread, spread with creamed butter, and a smooth paste filling. Place on a damp towel and carefully roll. Flatten with a tooth pick. Keep in a cold place. These may be treated and served hot. Parsley or water cream may be rolled in with the sandwich so that it extends from the end.

PINWHEEL SANDWICHES

Remove crusts from a loaf of bread and cut thin slices the entire length of the loaf. Spread with creamed butter, and then your desired two or three fillings, covering each third or half of the slice with a different spread. Devilled ham, chopped olives with mayonnaise, and cream cheese make a good combination. Roll up quite tightly, crosswise. Flatten with toothpicks and wrap in a damp towel. Keep in a cool place. Cut like a jelly roll.

RIBBON SANDWICHES

Trim off all crusts and cut loaf in lengthwise slices, about 1/2 inch thick. Spread with different colored spreads. Alternate dark and white bread slices to make ribbons most effective. Pile 3, 4 or 5 slices on top of each other with fillings between. Wrap in damp towel and store in cool place. Cut crosswise slices to serve.

SANDWICH LOAF

Make ribbon sandwiches, but do not slice. Cover loaf with well-creamed cream cheese. Garnish and serve on a platter. Cut at table.

COOKIES FOR TEA

Here are some of my favorite cookie recipes. There is room on this page for just a small selection, but if you would like any more recipes, don't hesitate to write or phone me.

These are really good cookies, fancy enough to serve at any tea, but inexpensive enough to suit any pocketbook.

JELLY DROPS

This is a recipe that my mother gave to me and it was always been one of my favorites.

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup corn starch
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream together butter, sugar, and add egg and beat well. Stir together the dry ingredients and mix with the creamed mixture. Add vanilla. Drop pieces the size of walnuts on to greased cookie sheet. Press indentation in centre and place a drop of red jelly in indentation. Bake 10 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Don't over-brown them. They are supposed to be quite pale in color.

DATE MACAROONS

This is a macaroon recipe that is quite different.

2 egg whites
2 1/2 cups powdered sugar
1 cup coconut
1/2 cup chopped walnuts (optional)

1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped dates
1 egg white with stiff, blend in sifted sugar. Add remaining ingredients. Drop by teaspoon on to cookie sheet. Bake at 325 degrees about 10 minutes.

WALNUT BUTTER-BALLS

These are truly delicious.

1 cup butter or margarine
4 to 6 tablespoons yellow sugar
2 cups sifted flour
2 cups finely chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter, add sugar and blend well. Add flour and knead to make a smooth dough. Add walnuts (very finely chopped) and vanilla. Break off small portions of dough and shape into balls. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Take from the pan and while still warm, roll in powdered sugar.

PINEAPPLE SLICE

This cookie bar is rather elegant and tastes wonderful.

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 beaten egg
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
Cream butter and sugar, add beaten egg, then dry ingredients. Pat into a 9-inch square pan. Spread with 3/4 to 1 cup well drained crushed pineapple.

Cover with:

1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
2 cups coconut

1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg white, beaten stiff
Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Cut in slices.

The colors most legible at the greatest distance are yellow on black.

RECIPE HINTS

Shirred eggs with bacon strips provides an easy and tempting meal.

Poached Eggs, Turnipish and Cheese on Toast

One large can of tuna; 1 1/4 the butter; 1 1/4 the flour; 1/2 cup milk; salt, paprika; 6 poached eggs; 6 slices toast; grated cheese. This makes a perfect meal if served with a tart salad, fresh cookies and a beverage.

Shirred Eggs With Bacon Strips

Grease individual baking dishes with bacon fat. Sprinkle bottom with layer of bread crumbs. Circle one or two bacon strips around the edge of dish. Slip an egg into each. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 12 to 20 minutes, depending upon the firmness desired. Top each with a bit of butter. Serve from the baking dishes and let each person season his own.

CANNING WITH A "CLICK"

There is a new type of jar lid on the market that has many superior qualities. This lid has been a best-seller in the United States for some time and now we can get it in Canada.

Gone are the days when you had to tighten jar lids after taking them from the canner. Now you may be certain that your jars are completely vacuum sealed, and air-tight.

These jar lids are rounded and as the jar cools, the dome is pulled down with a "click." When you hear this click, you know that your jar is sealed.

You can just touch the top, too, and if the dome is down then it is sealed.

These dome caps are the two-piece metal type, a band and a lid. The band can be removed after the jar is cooled and sealed and can be re-used on other jars. The dome lids, bands, and jars that go with them are very sturdy and well-made. If you already have your jars, these lids will fit the regular Mason-type jars.

I have found these dome lids to be perfect for all types of canning. It is certainly a relief to KNOW that the jars are sealed without having to guess or go around tapping lids to see if the "ping" is right. These are sure. If the dome is down, the jar is sealed. It is fool-proof.

Bet You Don't Know This About Advertising

Quiz No. 4

How much does it cost per can to advertise the leading brands of soup? Is it 1¢? 2¢? 3¢ per can?

Answer: It costs less than 1/30¢ per can to advertise the big-name brands of soup.

That's only half the story. Advertising lowers your cost two ways:

Cuts the selling costs. And by helping make mass production possible, lowers the production costs, too.

So advertising saves you many times that 1/30¢ per can.

WEEK BY WEEK

In The Garden

By G. E. SERY

The best harvest from the vegetable garden comes in the Fall, when the days are short and the nights cool. Then some subjects difficult to grow well in the Spring become easy and with all vegetables the harvest is prolonged.

This is because none of the plants is in a hurry to make seeds. In the Spring all the annual vegetables, those which complete their life cycle in one season, are seemingly intent upon seed production, and in the case of leaf and root crops, when seed bearing begins, quality is so impaired that the harvest ends.

BEST IN FALL

Conspicuous examples of this are Cauliflowers and Chinese Cabbage. The first can seldom be matured by the amateur in Spring, and the second is difficult, but both can be grown with ease in the Fall and should be.

Brussels Sprouts and Kale are at their best in the Fall. Endive not only grows well in cold weather but its flavor is greatly improved by frost. Spinach, which bolts to seed with the first warm days of Summer, no longer shows this tendency when grown in the Fall, but give a long harvest of top quality.

Root crops also like the Fall weather, but to enjoy the highest quality Summer sowings should be made so that new crops of Beets, Carrots, and Turnips will reach maturity in the early Fall. This is an excellent time to have the cutting and freezing crops available. While old plantings of both Beets and Carrots will retain fair table quality until freezing weather comes, they should never used for freezing or canning, and the younger plants will also be more delicious in the Fall than in the Spring.

ALLOW EIGHT WEEKS

For green onions in the Fall, onion sets will rarely be available, but last year's crop cannot be kept dormant in hot weather, and the new crop is not sufficiently cured to start growing again until a Winter's rest. The only way to insure Fall green onions is to sow onion seed six to eight weeks before the crop is desired.

Slow-growing vegetables, which need only to be sown once in order to give an all-season harvest, enjoy the cool days and more plentiful rainfall of Autumn as much as the fast types.

Beans, beets, carrots, turnips, and rutabagas, and endive, Chinese cabbage, Brussels sprouts and broccoli should all be sown in late June or early July for Fall harvest, otherwise much of your garden will be idle and your diet will be lacking these excellent foods.

All you have to do is to make sure the seeds you sow have moisture sufficient to germinate them, and that when they sprout they will not find a hard, sun-baked crust of clay soil over them which they cannot penetrate.

SOAK SOIL

It is easy to do this. First make the drill in which you sow the seeds deeper than in Spring. Let the hose run in it until the soil is soaked at least 6 inches deep. Now sow the seeds and cover them with porous soil, containing as little clay as possible. Put alone makes a good covering, or it may be mixed with sifted top soil or sand. A mixture of top soil and sand is right if the soil is black, with little clay content.

Cover the seeds lightly, leaving a slight depression which will collect moisture. Now provide shade from the hot sun. A mulch of peat, dried lawn clippings, burlap, sawdust or similar material will serve. So will a narrow board placed above the drill, and held up with wood blocks an inch high, so air will circulate below. Keep the soil moist by sprinkling, if necessary until the seeds sprout.

As soon as sprouts appear, the covering must be removed to give all possible light, and the seedling plants should be sprayed daily until they become established. After that they will thrive on the care given the rest of the garden. Lettuce suffers so much from heat it is best to wait until mid-July to sow it.

FERTILIZE WELL

Before sowing seed of any follow crop, the soil should be fed with at least 2 lb. of plant food for each 100 square feet, or 100 feet of row. I would suggest using Milorgante.

Curly Scotch Kale, which is becoming increasingly popular as a green, can be planted from June to mid-July. In addition to containing vitamins A, B and C, it is also rich in calcium and iron. It should be grown as a health vegetable in the home garden if for no other reason.

When young Kale can be used as salad greens. When plants mature the leaves can be cut almost continuously for use as cooked greens. It is classed as a "cut and come again" vegetable. The high vitamin content of young Kale leaves makes them a beautiful addition to the salad bowl. For this purpose select only young and tender leaves.

The best way to use the older plants is to cut off some of the outer leaves. This method of harvesting Kale permits the centre leaves to continue to grow for later use. In this way you can crop them all through Winter and well into Spring. They are the hardest of all the brassica family, and when other greens have been badly frozen, as they were last winter, the Kale will come through smiling.

WATCH CAREFULLY

Pruning and staking Tomato plants is a job which requires constant attention at this time of the year. But first of all the gardener must make sure that the plants are the staking sorts, for if they are of the self-pruning or dwarf type, they will not take kindly to the pruning treatment, producing only stunted growth, and few, misshapen fruits, with a pronounced tendency to crack. The staking variety should be grown on one single stem, and all laterals which appear at the axils of the leaves must be pinched out when they are one inch long.

This operation must be carried out every two or three days, as if left to grow much longer, the laterals will sap the vitality of the plant. As often as the laterals are pinched out, the main stem will require to be tied to the stake.

For this use a strip of cloth, soft thick twine or similar tie which will not cut the stem. The tie should be looped loosely around the stem and fastened securely to the support. Two stems may be allowed to grow together, but I would advise the single stem.

The terminal growth may be stopped one leaf above the fourth blossom cluster, as any further fruit is unlikely to ripen. Do not smoke or touch tobacco while handling tomatoes, as there is a tobacco disease which may be transmitted to your tomato plants if you are careless.

Do not remove leaves from a tomato plant, to expose the fruit to direct rays of the sun. The tie should be looped loosely around the stem and fastened securely to the support. Two stems may be allowed to grow together, but I would advise the single stem.

HOME & BUILDING NEWS

THE BOONE has a group of rooms around a small central hall, enabling accessibility to all rooms from the front vestibule without first passing through another room. A covered stoop protects the entrance to both house and garage. Plumbing installation costs are reduced by having an adjoining kitchen and bathroom. The kitchen has a large well lighted dining space with equipment arranged on two opposite walls. It is located so one end of the living room may be used for dining. There are 2-story view windows in the living room, one set overlooking the garden, the other the front yard and street. A fireplace can be placed on the end wall of the living room next to the garage.

Closets, with storage space above, are in the bedrooms. There is a coat closet in the vestibule and a linen closet and general closet in the bedroom hall.

Exterior walls are frame with siding. The roof, asphalt shingles. There is a wide eave overhang. The attached garage gives a wide appearance but the area is only 568 square feet and 1,232 cubic feet, including the basement.

THE SEMIAHMOO SUN presents its home plans feature for interest and information value only and cannot supply plans or specifications. Home builders are advised to consult with a local architect or write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn., for further information about THE BOONE.

Horticulturists hear talk on Sweet Peas

Monthly meeting of the White Rock and District Horticultural Society was held July 11 at 8 p.m. in the United Church Hall.

The guest speaker, Mr. Barber, "The Garden Man," gave a fine talk on "Growing Sweet Peas for Exhibition," from the preparation of the soil for the seed to the shooting and care of the plants and flowers.

Mr. Barber also explained the proper method of building a compost pile. Various questions on garden topics were asked and answered. Mr. Barber also introduced the Parlow Show, and explained the various marks given to each exhibit.

At the close of the talk, Mr. Barber introduced Mr. Moffat who is a Vancouver Parks Board Commissioner, as well as Chairman of the Horticulture section of the Pacific National Exhibition. He urged the members of a Society, as well as individual members to exhibit in the big show.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Barber and Mr. Moffat by the members.

Plans are setting well into shape for the local Horticultural Society's Annual Flower Show this year, to be staged in the White Rock school annex, Johnston Road and Roper Avenue, August 17 from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Exhibitors are urged to get their entries in early. Exhibits must be in place by 10 p.m., August 16. Some 17 gardens are entered in the garden contest this year.

Better service aim of B.C.E. engineers

Better service to power consumers in the Fraser Valley can now be given by the B.C. Electric, following the appointment of two industrial sales representatives who will work in the Valley exclusively, as far east as Lytton.

E. H. "Harry" Tarrant has been appointed to the western portion of the Valley and R. W. "Red" Racine will cover the municipalities of Mission and Matsqui, and areas served by the B.C.E. east as far as Lytton. It has been announced by Howard N. Walters, B.C.E. general sales manager.

MORE EFFICIENT
"With their specialized knowledge in electrical engineering, they will work closely with local branch managers to service power installations more efficiently and faster," Mr. Walters said.

"Any problems connected with a customer's electrical service will be attended to by these permanent industrial sales representatives," he added.

Mr. Tarrant and Mr. Racine will also be available to advise and assist electrical contractors and builders in their areas with details relating to installations or extensions of power services, Mr. Walters stated.

IN ROYAL CITY

Headquarters for Mr. Racine is the B.C.E.'s branch office at Abbotsford, while Mr. Tarrant will operate from the Company's New Westminster office.

Both men are graduates in electrical engineering from the University of British Columbia and have had many years experience in the industrial electrical field.

At least 60 per cent of Chivan-Kal Shek's troops, or about 1,800,000 men, were lost during 1946.

FACTS ABOUT

ADVERTISING

The fourth in a series of articles explaining the function of Advertising in our Society.

For several thousand years man has been laboring to harness the forces of nature and to bring them to the task of producing the material things which make civilization possible. Amazing progress has been made, especially in our own country. Even in times of comparative distress, nearly as much as to enjoy more of the satisfactions of life than were formerly available to the most fortunate few.

Ability to make things is useless unless we also know how to distribute them. Every advance in the creative process demands an advance in the distribution methods. Otherwise, progress is but a theory.

Under the only satisfactory social system which we know, goods must be distributed by selling them to the people who are to use them. All purchases must be voluntary and the money for this buying comes from industry itself.

The only threat that could ever seem to come from too great production efficiency would really arise from the lack of our distributive machinery. In times of depression, every influence for life in the selling process is speeded up to keep the wheels turning.

Under conditions of full employment, we still are faced with the necessity of making more goods of industry move faster into the hands of consumers.

We have never really produced too much and we probably never will. At times, we did seem to have too much wheat or too many hairpins, but there are always many things which we could use more than has ever been produced. In this sense we have never really had over production, and certainly not in the depression years of the early 1930's as many then believed. What they called over-production amounted to far less than what we now consider to be under-production and scarcity.

POWERFUL FORCE

One thing which this country needs to do for the future is to devote an increasing amount of ingenuity and energy to the problem of distributing the goods which industry produces. Distributing means selling to consumers. In all the history of selling, there never has been a greater invention than that of advertising, which has become industry's most powerful sales force. Just as machines brought mass production, so advertising made mass selling possible.

Our inventors and engineers must be kept at their task of making life easier and more pleasant. But we must strengthen those forces which distribute the fruits of their creation. One of the most important of these is intelligent advertising. It is not only business which benefits from advertising. In this stage of civilization, the welfare of every man, woman, and child is dependent on the efficient distribution of our manifold products. Good advertising is one of the most essential forces in this process.

"Arsenic and Old Lace funniest yet," say Players

The funniest thing ever to happen in White Rock—that's the prediction of local Players' Club members concerning their forthcoming production of "Arsenic and Old Lace," which will play eight nights, starting Monday, July 31, in the club's new Little Theatre, 464 Campbell Road.

A riot of laughs with a sprinkling of chills, the well-known farce delighted New York audiences during a long Broadway run, and a later movie version, with Cary Grant and Boris Karloff, proved equally popular.

LOCALS STAR

As Abby and Martha Brewster, the two nice old ladies with a penchant for favoring their elderly wine with arsenic, Margaret Primrose and Elnd Saunders will be starred in the local production.

Nell Primrose plays the loony brother, Teddy Brewster, with Johnson and Geoffrey Theobald as the sinister Jonathan Brewster and his companion-in-evil, Dr. Einstein. One of the world's funniest love affairs is that between Mortimer Brewster, played by James Lawson, and Elaine Harper, portrayed by Bette Mathieson.

Ratepayers' Water committee receives several complaints

Water Committee of White Rock Ratepayers' Association has been receiving numerous complaints from water consumers regarding low pressure and lack of water, especially during sprinkling hours, reports Ratepayer's president, W. Hunter.

In some sections, he says, water cannot be obtained for domestic purposes during sprinkling hours.

and those who are sprinkling only get a mere trickle.

The Water Committee also reports that there are a number of consumers who are not co-operating with sprinkling regulations. Some are using the hose morning and evening every day of the week, it is said.

The Committee recommends that cases of this kind be reported to the Water Works Committee with the request that a meter be installed.

White Rock bowlers trounce Chilliwack

Refreshments were served in the club house. The Chilliwack visitors left at 5:30 to visit the New Westminster Club where an evening game was planned.

B.C. Week, sponsored by the B.C. Lawn Bowlers' Association is now in full swing on the different greens in Vancouver, with visitors from as far south as California and as far east as Alberta.

The local club is well represented having twenty entries in the different classes. Some of the contestants will no doubt be successful and the club house will be the meeting place for the trophies, denoting champions for the next 12 months.
